Gunpowder Plot of 1775
1975

200th ANNIVERSARY of GUNPOWDER PLOT at St. GEORGES 1775.

Gunpowder was urgently needed by the American Army in 1775 during the War of Independence and one dark night in August of that year, a band of sympathisers broke through the roof of the Royal Magazine at St. George's. One hundred barrels of gunpowder were taken to the American ships lying off Tobacco Bay. The daring theft was not discovered until the next morning. Artistic licence shows the magazine closer to the sea than was actually so. The American ships also lay further out to sea, but complete accuracy would spoil a stirring picture.
